I could not endure it another minute. I went over and said good night to my hostess who had spoken to me only once since my arrival. Drowsy as I was, I noticed she seemed surprised. Oh, no, I told her; I am not ill, only very sleepy. How good my pillow felt! The next morning Tom was cross. I had made a faux pas. I had shown I was bored and peeved and had gone to bed before the hostess indicated it was bedtime. It was n t done in England. What do you do if you can t keep awake? I asked. You slip out quietly, go to your room ask a maid to call you after you have had forty winks, then you go back and pretend you are having a good time, said Tom. There were some bitter hours after we got back to London. But Tom won, and I promised to get a companion. Then there came into my life the most wonderful of friends. She...
