The extensive robberies that have been committed of late, have called for the general observations of the public on the defective stat of the Police; and much surprise has been manifested, that some mora vigorous plans have not been adopted to secure property. Those which have been suggested for improving the nightly watch in the city, have, after many discussion at last been abandoned; an (be evil complained of left without a remedy. Mr. Secretary Peel succeeded in establishing a permanent horse patrol, which has given confidence to the traveller, and ample satisfaction to the public; and our great public roads, around the metropolis, may now be said to be clear of Highwaymen and Footpads. The day patrols would be equally useful, if sufficiently numerous, but these men are rarely seen near the haunts of thieves:...
